

Sir Provo Wallis

Rest on the lap of fame—thou patriarch head.
Acadia! hast thou no regard to show?
Hast thou no fitting tribute to bestow
    On thy illustrious dead.

Go rear a monument all worthy thee,
A graceful statue in enduring brass;
That future generations, as they pass,
    Our patriot zeal may see,

And scanning o'er the page of history
Long may our sons his noble prestige feel,
And, matched with foemen, worthy of their steel
    Strike home for victory.

Well may thy native city hail thy fame
And write in adamant her hero's name.

CHARLES FENERTY.
